

Narrator: Unit Three Test.

Erica: Hi, Al, it's Erica. I've got some exciting news!

Alison: What is it?

Erica: Dad's bought a couple of tickets to see One World so do you fancy coming with me?

Alison: What?!! Are you kidding? Just try and stop me!

Erica: OK, calm down. You don't even know when the concert is ...

Alison: So when is it?

Erica: It's on the 28th.

Alison: That's next Sunday, isn't it?

Erica: No, Saturday. Sunday is the 29th.

Alison: OK.

Erica: Anyway, it starts at 7.30 but One World will be on at about 8.30 as there's a support band. I guess the concert will finish at about 10.30 and Dad said he'll pick us up and you can stay over.

Alison: That sounds brilliant. Where are they playing by the way?

Erica: At the stadium – the one near the park. The concert hall's too small.

Alison: Oh, so it's going to be outdoors. And how are we going to get there?

Erica: Mum said she'd take us but why don't we get the bus there? It'll be more exciting as there'll be loads of other fans going too.

Alison: Shall I come to yours first then?

Erica: Yes, that's a good idea and don't forget your One World scarf.

Alison: As if ... oh, and, how much is the ticket? I heard they were between £35 and £55.

Erica: Don't worry, they were my birthday present but I think they were £45 each.

Alison: Oh, that's fine – I'm sure my mum won't mind paying for me ...
