THE LARMER TREE FESTIVAL

The Larmer Tree Festival is a music festival that has taken place every July for the last 20 years. But it has never grown in size so there are only 4,000 tickets available. It starts on the Wednesday of the middle week in July and ends at the weekend, on the Sunday, so you can buy tickets for separate days or you can go for the whole period.

The festival is named after an old tree that originally grew in big gardens which were opened to the public in 1880 as a place where people could go for rest and entertainment.

There are lots of bands every day, starting at lunchtime and going through until after midnight so festival goers can spend their time listening to music from all over the world. But if they don't want to do that, there are plenty of quiet places to meet friends and sit and chat.

As well as music, there are also lots of activities for children as it is a family festival. There are jugglers and face painters and lots of workshops to go to, from doing creative things to learning how to drum or dance.

Most people want to stay at the festival for the whole time so they camp. There is a large campsite next to the Larmer Tree gardens that has a shop where you can buy food to cook. But if you can't find what you want there, there are also cafés and a lot of other different places to eat in the festival area – and lots of places to buy souvenirs! There really is something for everyone!
