Finding the best chicken and chips in London

Elijah Quashie is a YouTube™ star from London. He's very popular. Often more than 1,000,000 people watch his videos in a month. What does he do in the videos? He eats chicken and chips! On his YouTube™ channel, he's called the Chicken Connoisseur. A connoisseur is a person who knows a lot about good food. He goes to small fast food restaurants in London and he usually orders the same food: chicken, chips and a chicken burger. Then he eats the food and says if he thinks it's good. He gives the food a mark out of five. He doesn't give 5/5 very often!

People like Elijah's channel because he is funny and his videos are interesting. He doesn't only talk about food. At the beginning of each video, he talks about his trainers. He's got different trainers in every episode! People also like his videos because they are different from most videos, TV programmes and articles about food. He doesn't go to big, famous restaurants, and the food in his videos isn't expensive. Of course, it isn't healthy either, so he doesn't eat it too often. When he isn't eating chicken and chips, he likes eating a dish with rice and vegetables.

The YouTube™ channel, which is called The CNSR, is now more than five years old – that's a lot of videos about chicken and chips! Elijah has still got lots of ideas for new videos. He loves chicken and chips, but he wants to talk about other kinds of food, too.
