Card A

By chance, I met my friend John in the town centre last month. He asked me how I was and if I had been busy. I told him I was fine but very busy. He asked me if I was still working for my uncle. I told him that I wasn't, because I had started a new job on Monday. He asked me what I was doing. I said I was working for an advertising company in the city. He asked me if I enjoyed it. I told him that it was hard work, but I really liked it. He asked me if I had seen Susan and Tim recently. I said I hadn't seen them for almost 12 months, but was going to meet them that Saturday. He asked me what we were doing. I told him that we were getting a coffee and I suggested that he come too.

Card C

I met my friend Heidi for a coffee last month and we started talking about our holiday plans. She told me she was excited because she was going skiing for the first time the following week. I said that she would probably really enjoy it. She asked me if I had ever been skiing before. I said that I had just returned from a skiing trip the week before. She asked me where I had been. I said that I had spent two weeks in Isola in France. She asked me if I could ski well. I said that I had spent most of the two weeks on my back because I was a terrible skier. She said she was worried the same thing would happen to her. I told her not to worry and I suggested that she have some lessons. She asked the waiter to bring the bill. I told her to put her money away because I would pay.
