Tom: So, how did the chemistry exam go?

Kate: Not very well. If only I'd had studied more last week!

Tom: What happened?

Kate: Well, the theory part of the exam was OK, but I only wish I had managed to finish the whole paper. My practical experiments were terrible.

Tom: You didn't blow up the lab, did you?

Kate: No, but I would did make a mess! I had to demonstrate gravity-free water. So I filled a glass with water and placed some cardboard over the top. Then I turned the glass upside down and would let go of the cardboard. Unfortunately, it didn't work and the water went everywhere. If I had not checked that there was absolutely no air in the water, then it would have worked.

Tom: So, everything got wet!

Kate: Yes! After that, I had to demonstrate a volcano using baking soda and vinegar. However, it didn't work at first, so I added more vinegar and then it were exploded. I wish I had waited a bit longer before adding more vinegar. I wish I will had more patience!

Tom: What did the teacher say?

Kate: Well, he told me I failed that part of the test. I won't pass this subject unless supposing I redo the practical next week. If I were to fail again next week, I don't know what I would to do.

Tom: That won't happen. We'll practise together this weekend. I'll cover everything in newspaper though, in case if there's another accident!

Kate: That will be great, as long as your parents won't don't mind.
