Here's another holiday post from our tour of Scandinavia. Hope you enjoy reading it.

Water, water, everywhere

I went to an aquarium a few years ago when I was small. It had tiny fish tanks and there wasn't much room for the animals. So, when my dad suggested going to a new aquarium, I wasn't very excited. 'It'll be boring and the fish won't be happy,' I thought. I was so wrong!

The Blue Planet is the largest aquarium in northern Europe. It's near Copenhagen in Denmark. And it's massive! It opened in 2013 and was instantly popular. Almost 1.3 million people visited it in the first year! It's an amazing building, too.

There are five main sections at the Blue Planet and each section shows a different area of water. My favourite was the rainforest section. People are cutting down rainforests around the world, so animals from these areas need a lot of help. We saw freshwater stingrays, piranha and beautiful tetra fish. There were also birds, snakes, crocodiles and many other types of animal!

I'm going again later this week because I didn't have time to see everything. And with my 'Copenhagen card' I can visit as many times as I want! We're going to watch them feed the sharks. That will be awesome!

Write true, false or doesn't say.

- 1 At first, Ashlee wasn't enthusiastic about visiting the Blue Planet. true
- 2 The Blue Planet took a long time to become popular. false
- 3 As well as the five main sections, there are many other sections at the Blue Planet. doesn't say
- 4 There aren't any mammals at the Blue Planet. doesn't say
- 5 Ashlee's Copenhagen card gives her unlimited visits to the Blue Planet. true

12 Read the text again. Answer the questions.

- 1 Why didn't Ashlee like the first aquarium?
Because it had tiny fish tanks and there wasn't much room for the animals.
- 2 How many visitors did the Blue Planet receive in its first year?
Almost 1.3 million.
- 3 Why do rainforest animals need a lot of help?
Because people are cutting down the trees.
- 4 What other animals does Ashlee mention that aren't fish?
She mentions birds, snakes and crocodiles.
- 5 Why is Ashlee going to the Blue Planet again later this week?
Because she didn't have time to see everything.
