CHLOE Oh, no! I have to go to the headmaster's office! I'm sure he's going to <sup>1</sup>_____.

JACK Why? What have you done?

CHLOE Well, the maths teacher says I don't <sup>2</sup>_____ her and that I am <sup>3</sup>_____ because I try to make the other students laugh when I should be listening. Then she says I'm <sup>4</sup>_____ when I disagree with her, and that I'm very <sup>5</sup>_____ with my homework and make lots of mistakes.

JACK Well, if it's true, you need to be more <sup>6</sup>_____. If not, you'll <sup>7</sup>_____ and you won't be allowed to <sup>8</sup>_____ the final exam.

6 In your notebook, design a poster with advice on how to get good exam grades. Use the poster in Exercise 4 and the headings in the box to help you.
