3 ★ Read and listen to the conversation. Does Paul agree with Maria in the end?

PAUL 1 _____ to that new hamburger restaurant later, Maria. 2 _____ join us?

MARIA I think I'll give it a 3 _____, Paul. We should all give up eating meat, I think.

PAUL Maybe you're 4 _____, but a little meat now and then is healthy.

MARIA OK, but don't 5 _____ that we also need a lot of land to produce meat.

PAUL Why is land important?

MARIA Well, for example, to produce beef we need a lot of land for the cows. It takes about 30 m² of land to produce just one kilo of beef!

PAUL OK, but other smaller animals like chickens don't need much space.

MARIA I've read about it. It takes about 20 m² to produce a kilo of chicken. Not only that, but also takes a lot of water to produce meat.

PAUL I see your 6 _____, but I don't think we should stop eating meat 7 _____!

MARIA Well, let's agree to disagree!

7 ★★ Listen again and complete the conversation.

MARIA I've just sent you a link to some statistics about meat production, Paul.

PAUL OK, 1 _____ you're right, but I think we should just eat a bit less meat and more vegetables – I don't want to eat only vegetables, though. It's not my 2 _____.

MARIA But maybe in the future there won't be enough land or water to grow vegetables for everyone on the planet, either.

PAUL Oh, so what should we eat?

MARIA Insects!

PAUL What? I think 3 _____ it a miss, thanks! I'm not eating insects!

MARIA 4 _____ forget that many people in different countries do eat insects. And they don't need much land or water.

PAUL OK, well, I'm 5 _____ the supermarket to get a kilo of ants for dinner at my house. 6 _____ join us?

MARIA Be serious! We've got to change our habits. We can't go on using the planet like we are now.
