SAM Hi, Maria. How did moving <sup>1</sup> to your new house go? You were really looking <sup>2</sup> forward to moving in!

MARIA It was a disaster! Before we moved <sup>3</sup> out of our old house, we didn't pack very well, and when we got to the new house, we couldn't find the <sup>4</sup> cables to plug in all our devices. And my family can't do <sup>5</sup> without their social media!

SAM Oh dear. Then what?

MARIA Well, it was freezing in the new house, but we couldn't work out which <sup>6</sup> button to press to turn on the heating.

SAM Wow! What did you do?

MARIA The neighbours offered to let us sleep at their place, so we couldn't turn the offer <sup>7</sup> down!

My grandmother recently told me about the time she <sup>1</sup> signed up for / ended up in / went through computer lessons, 30 years ago. Her first class <sup>2</sup> did without / turned out / went through very badly. The instructor told them to type a letter. First she didn't know which <sup>3</sup> key / button / lid to press to switch the computer on, so the <sup>4</sup> lens / cover / display stayed black. She finally managed to type a paragraph, but then she pressed the delete <sup>5</sup> lid / button / key and lost it all and had to <sup>6</sup> go back to / move to / settle down at the beginning. The class was almost over when the instructor said: 'OK, Advanced Computer Skills lesson two will be on Friday.' That was when she realised she'd <sup>7</sup> ended up in / gone through / moved out of the wrong class!
