C: Hi, Alex. How was your holiday?
A: Hi Chloe. Well, it wasn't really a holiday. I was really tired when I got home. But I learnt a lot – and I'm a lot fitter now!
C: Really? So what did you learn?
A: Oh, lots of skills for keeping yourself alive if you get lost in the wild. We spent five days in a forest and had to find our way back to the camp.

C: Scary! Did you see any wild animals?
A: No, we didn't see any, but we heard
some at night.
C: Wow!

M: Didn't know you were interested in drama. What made you go to the festival?
J: Well, my friend Rosie is always inviting
me to go to drama workshops with her.
We've got this new drama teacher at school. We did some acting with him and I loved it. That's why I decided to go to the festival and do a workshop.
M: So, what did they teach you?
J: Well, they taught us how to mime. I learned how to show different feelings, like anger or happiness. They said it's better to hide your real feelings and just focus on acting. You need to make sure your face and your body show the same emotion.
M: Well, I guess you were good at it because you had a big part in the final show.
J: That wasn't planned. There was a really talented girl, and the plan was for her to play the main character. But she fell at lunchtime and hurt her foot.
She had to go to hospital, so the teacher asked me to do it.
M: And did the show go well?
J: Hmm, quite well. The costumes looked great and the make-up artists
did a great job! The music was brilliant.
And everyone remembered what they had to do. The only thing that went wrong was the lights
M: And what was your favourite part of the day?
J: Oh I enjoyed all of it. The show was brilliant. The dancing was amazing –
they taught us some really good dance moves. And I made lots of new friends
– I think that was probably the best bit.

I = Interviewer E = Ellie

I: Why did you choose a working holiday?

E: When I finished school, I wanted to go to South America, but I didn't have enough money. Then a friend told me about Woofing – that's working on organic farms. I looked online and it looked amazing. I spent two months in Peru working on a vegetable farm. I loved it!

I: Do you see a lot of the country where you're working?

E: Yes, you get days off, so you can go on excursions or weekend trips.

I: What's your favourite kind of working holiday?

E: Well, working on farms is OK, but I prefer activity camps. I've done summer camps in America – they're great – but my real passion is skiing. So I enjoy the winter ski seasons the most.

I: Do you have to be sporty to work at activity camps?

E: It helps if you're sporty. I teach tennis and horse-riding in the summer and, of course, skiing in the winter. But you don't have to be sporty. You can do other jobs, like cooking or working at a reception desk.

I: You must enjoy it because you keep going back.

E: Yes. Working holidays are a great way to travel. You see some amazing places, it's a great way to keep fit, and probably the best thing is that you meet other young people from all over the world. I guess it could be difficult as you get older because it's hard work – but luckily, I'm still young!
