Juliane Koepcke

Juliane Koepcke, a seventeen-year-old German girl, was travelling home with her mother for Christmas. They were flying over the rainforest of Peru when there was a storm and the pilot lost control of the plane.

The next day Juliane woke up in the jungle. She had a broken bone and cuts on her leg. She was completely alone. "I should be brave." Juliane came to a river and started walking down it. "If I walk down the river, it will take me to civilisation." She walked for nine days. At night it was very cold and Juliane was wearing a short dress. She had only one bag of sweets. On the tenth day, Juliane didn't feel well and had to stop walking. But she saw a boat and that was a good sign. She slept near the boat and the next day she heard men's voices. When the men saw the thin, hungry girl they were very frightened. But Juliane knew some Spanish and she told them about the accident. The men took her to a doctor and she told them the story.

This happened forty years ago. Juliane was the only survivor. There have been two films about Juliane's adventure and many newspapers and magazines have written about her. Juliane has also written a book. She now works as a zoologist but has often gone back to the rainforest in Peru. "I try to have a normal life, but it's difficult."
