A tech-free holiday – can I do it?
A report by Marcus Jones

It's the start of our one-week school holiday in May. I'm getting ready for a holiday without technology! That means no mobile phones, no video games and no YouTube. I'm doing it as part of a school project. For the project, we're looking at lives of teenagers fifty years ago. So our homework is to spend the school holiday without technology and write a daily diary about it. We spend fifteen minutes writing about our opinions and feelings in our school diary every day and then we upload our diary entries to the school blog. That's the only time we can use technology!

It's only 4 p.m. on Saturday and I'm already missing my phone. It feels strange. My sister is sitting next to me on the sofa. She's texting her friends and laughing at me! My family think I can't live without technology. I want to show them they're wrong! How is everyone else doing?

Dan, 15

Add message | Report

I'm finding it easy at the moment. I play football every Saturday and so I don't usually play on my computer anyway.

Alexandra, 16

Add message | Report

I'm feeling a bit bored! I miss chatting to my friends online. I can't believe it's only day 1!

Sienna, 15

Add message | Report

It's easy for me because I'm staying with family in Wales for the holiday. We come every May on holiday. The house doesn't have wi-fi and my mobile has no signal here. I'm writing this in a café in the town. Our holidays here are always technology-free!

4 Find words in the report that have these meanings.

- 1 computers, mobile phones and the internet are examples of this:

Playing basketball in a science lesson?

by Bea Forrester

Yesterday I visited a school with a very different way of teaching science. I arrived at the school and the headteacher, Ms Ross, took me to Class 4B's science lesson. I thought it was strange that Ms Ross didn't take me to the science lab. Instead, she took me to the school gym. I looked through the window and it looked like a PE lesson but it wasn't. It was a science lesson about the human body.

At the start of the lesson, the students ran around the gym and threw basketballs to each other. After ten minutes, the teacher told them to stop. The students went to the end of the gym and sat down. They sat at tables, but there were no books or pens. The teacher taught them science only with a whiteboard and her laptop.

After eight minutes of teaching, the students left their tables. They picked up the basketballs and started their ten minutes of exercise again. This happened three times. Each time the students only sat and learned science for eight minutes. The students at the school learned better and faster like this. The students remembered more information with the ten-minute breaks and exercise.

So what did I think? Well, it felt strange at first and I didn't think it was a good idea, but I soon changed my opinion. I learned a lot from the lesson – and it was a lot of fun!

- 1 Bonobos customers can only look at the clothes in a Bonobos shop.
- 2 You can only buy Bonobos clothes online.
- 3 Most online shoppers in the USA try clothes on in a shop before they buy online.
- 4 Shop assistants in guideshops never work with money.

The shops that sell nothing

- 1 The American company Bonobos sells men's clothes and you can find Bonobos shops in many US cities. But Bonobos shops are more unusual than most shops because you can't actually buy clothes from there. Yes, you read correctly! Customers can only try on clothes in the shop. Customers then order the clothes they want online and the clothes arrive at the customer's house as soon as the next day.
- 2 In the past you could only see Bonobos clothes online. However, like many online shoppers, Bonobos' customers really wanted to try clothes on before buying. Do you know that nearly half of all online shoppers in the USA try things on in shops before buying them online? So Bonobos decided to give their customers a place to try on its clothes.
- 3 Bonobos called these places 'Guideshops'. The idea is that these guideshops help customers choose the right clothes. The shop assistants give customers advice about colour and sizes. The good thing is that you can always find your size because no one can buy the last medium size T-shirt! Also, you never have heavy shopping bags to take home with you!
- 4 These kinds of shops also save companies money. It's cheaper because guideshops don't need the space that 'normal' shops need. They don't need twenty large blue jumpers, they only need one. It also means they don't need to spend as much money on sending and returning lots of clothes to and from shops.
- 5 Is this the future of all shops – places where we 'experience' things instead of buying things?

Tomorrow's stars

★ Henry Cue

I'm a pupil at Redgrave School of Performing Arts. I love singing and dancing. I started dance lessons when I was six. My mum and aunty are both brilliant dancers. Actually, my aunty taught me. I also really enjoy acting. Last week I was performing in a theatre in London. It was really scary. I had the biggest role in the play and I was away from home for the first time!

★ Isadora Fox

I'm fifteen years old and go to Willow School of Music. It's in London and a short walk from my house. I love singing and my sister plays the guitar. We're in a band together. Our band won a special music prize a week ago. I couldn't believe it! Most of my friends at school want to be famous actors on TV, but not me! I don't want to be in front of a TV camera.

★ Elliot Summers

I came to Talbot School of Music and Drama at the start of the year. Before that I was going to a normal high school. My favourite lessons are acting and music. I'm lucky because a friend of my dad's is a famous guitar player. He taught me how to play. My dream is to be in a rock band and play on TV shows and travel the world.

Visiting Hong Kong?

Here's what you need to know

In this month's "Teen Travels" we talk to Amy Lee about advice for teenage visitors to Hong Kong.

So, Amy, why is Hong Kong a cool place for teens to visit?

It's the best city, in my opinion. I now live in London, but I spent the first twelve years of my life in Hong Kong. I go back to Hong Kong every holiday to visit family. In fact, I'm going to be there next week. For me, it's a really exciting city to be in and there is so much for young people to do. You'll never get bored in Hong Kong!

I like walking around Hong Kong and also catching the tram, but my favourite way to see the city is from the water. You can catch the Star Ferry from Victoria Harbour. You'll get amazing views of Hong Kong and it's not an expensive way to travel. I also love going up to Victoria Peak, the highest mountain on Hong Kong Island. You can take a tram up the mountain. There are places to eat, but no hotels. It's especially good at nighttime, when you can see all the lights of Hong Kong below you.

A favourite place for Hong Kong teens to walk along is Nathan Road. It's two miles long and is full of shops, but also full of people – sometimes too many! The bubble tea shops are really popular places for teens to hang out. You'll have no problem spending your holiday money there!

I hope you have a great time in Hong Kong!

Doing the #MyMiles challenge!

Damien

Hi, my name's Damien and I did the #MyMiles challenge. I think it's a great idea because you can do any kind of exercise you like. My brother's crazy about running, but I find it boring. I also don't really enjoy team sports like football. It's not because I can't play – I'm actually quite good. So when I heard about #MyMiles, I wanted to think of a different kind of exercise. I decided to choose something I love doing: skateboarding. I did it with a group of school friends. My sister took a video of us while we were skateboarding. We can do lots of different jumps. I uploaded the video to my social media page. And amazingly, hundreds of people liked the video. I enjoyed showing my friends what I can do on my skateboard. I had some really cool comments from people. I gave my £2 and I think my whole school made about £500 in total to help young sportspeople. I'm going to get my dad to do the #MyMiles challenge now – that will be fun!

Is it a thumbs up for island life?

A Callum

My family moved to the island of Unst when I was baby. Unst is the furthest north you can live in the UK. Although we're north, it isn't freezing cold. It's often about five degrees in the winter. Just over 600 people live on Unst so life is different for teenagers here. I've never been to the cinema or been to a fast food restaurant. There are no clothes shops on Unst so I do all my shopping online. I'd like to go to university in Scotland or England. I plan to return here though. I can't think of a better place to live!

B Ben

I live on Roatan Island. My parents moved here for their jobs when I was three months old. There are cool things to do here. I've swum with dolphins and I've ridden horses on the beach. But I don't really enjoy island life now I'm a teenager. I've become a bit bored. When I finish school, I want to go and live with my auntie in New York. I can't wait to see my first snow! I'll probably come back for holidays.

C Anna

I'm from Iqualit, a large island in northern Canada. I've only been off the island once to visit Québec. Iqualit means 'the place of many fish'. I love fishing and I often go out in my grandfather's boat. We've caught some really big fish together! For eight months of the year the temperature is below zero. I don't mind the cold. I love playing in the snow with my friends. A lot of my family live near our house, so I can walk and visit them whenever I want.

Eat with it ... then eat it!

by Sam Mayers

We use too much plastic. It's a fact. If you eat in a café or fast food restaurant, you'll usually use some plastic. Maybe you'll get a plastic spoon with your ice cream or a plastic cup for your orange juice. We eat and drink and then throw the plastic in the bin. The problem with all this plastic is that it stays on the planet for hundreds of years. Although everyone knows this, we continue buying fast food because we love it and it saves us time.

So if you care about the world, but you like to eat fast food, you'll love this idea. How about a spoon that you can eat after you use it? A company in India has found a good way to use less plastic. The company has made edible spoons. This means spoons that you can eat.

These edible spoons are very strong. You can even use them with hot soup or coffee. If you eat your soup with one, the spoon won't go soft. So, are the spoons sweet or salty? They can be both. The company makes them in different flavours. I think this is a great idea. You can choose a sweet spoon for your desserts and a salty spoon for your main course.

If the Indian company can make the spoons cheaply, we'll soon see them in our local cafés. If the spoons work well, maybe we'll find ways to make plates and bowls you can eat too!

I love volleyball. I play for my school team, but I first played volleyball on holiday. I was in Italy with my cousins and some local Italian children taught us how to play. My cousins still play volleyball and we often practise together. At the moment we're training for a big competition. We lost the last one, so I hope we'll win this time! When I'm older, I want to go to university and train to be a P.E. teacher.

B Sebastian

I love playing tennis. My first experience of it was at primary school. Now I belong to a club. A famous tennis player was a member of the club, but that was years before I joined. I usually go to the club twice a week, but I can't play at the moment. I hurt my foot last week when I was playing tennis. I often help our coach and I give lessons to beginners.

C Rowan

I really love skiing. I first skied on holiday with my family. Some people say it's a dangerous sport, but I haven't had any accidents. Luckily, I live near mountains so I can ski at the weekends. I'm going on a school skiing trip next month and I need to buy some new goggles. Once when I was skiing, I met the world number-one Olympic skier. My friends couldn't believe it!

Part 3

For each question, choose the correct answer.

‘The Dark Forest’ is a fantastic new horror film coming to cinemas later this week.

Our journalist, Dan Ashton, went to meet the young star of the film, Naomi Smith.

Is this your first film?

The first of many, I hope! People think I’ve done a lot of acting on TV. The truth is someone saw me on stage at my local theatre and asked me to go to the film studio. They liked my acting and asked me to be in the film.

What happened to your school work while you were making the film?

I couldn’t go to school or do lots of homework as I was too busy. I really missed my school friends. The film company organised a special teacher for me and I had lessons every day. I think my parents were worried about school at first, but now they’re happy that I did the film. They can’t believe the good luck I’ve had this year!

What did you enjoy the most about making this film?

I loved it all! I really enjoyed learning how to act better. I learned so much! But probably the thing I’ll remember forever is meeting my favourite actors, Joss Parker and Rosalind Knight. I also travelled to some amazing places to film different parts of the film.

Thank you, Naomi, and I look forward to seeing you in the film.
