Transport in the city

In the city, you ¹ can / must use a bus, the underground, a train or a taxi. Now for public transport you ² can / have to use a special card. You ³ mustn't / don't have to stop the bus in the street, you ⁴ have to / can go to the bus stop. The trains are different. You ⁵ mustn't / don't have to stop them. They stop at every station.

Are you in a taxi? You ⁶ can / must sit at the front or at the back. Are you riding your bike? You ⁷ have to / can use the special places for bikes: bicisenda. And you ⁸ have to / don't have to stop at a red light. Another thing. You ⁹ mustn't / don't have to use your mobile phone.

One last thing. You ¹⁰ don't have to / mustn't eat on public transport. This is a question of respect to others, and good habits too.

Glaucia Cuetos is a young gymnast. She's from Belem, in the north of Brazil, but she's living in Rio at present. She goes to school in the morning and trains at the club in the afternoon. She does her homework at home in the evening. She sometimes watches TV with her brothers. Her favourite programmes are sports programmes.

Life is hard for an athlete. Glaucia can't drink soda or eat fast food. She has to eat lots of vegetables and fruit. Meat is OK, especially fish. Her breakfast is toast, orange juice, milk and fruit. She has lunch at home: chicken or fish and salad. Dinner is very similar, chicken, meat or fish and salad.

Glaucia's a good dancer. She does Zumba at the club. That's very good exercise. Her friends go to parties and dance a lot, but she can't. Her bedtime is 10, also at weekends.

There are exceptions, her birthday, special family celebrations and school celebrations. But she doesn't eat crisps at parties. She prefers cheese sandwiches and water. She is OK with this, because she wants to be a world champion.
