G: What's on?
B: The new Jake Larkin film, Mark of Hell.
G: I don't like action films!

- B: Oh, come on, please!
G: OK. When does it start?
B: In half an hour.
B: I'd like two tickets for Mark of Hell, please.
W: Sure, which screening?
B: The 5.15.
W: There are two seats in row five.
B: That's fine.
W: That's fifteen, fifty.
B: Here you are.
W: Thanks. Enjoy the film.

A: Hi! Did you enjoy your visit to the safari park last weekend?
B: It was brilliant! You can drive along a road through the park and see all the animals through the window!
A: Yes. We were there last year. What animals did you see?
B: Well, there were lots of monkeys. Two jumped on the car and one tried to take the car mirror.
A: I hope you didn't open the window.
B: Oh no, we didn't! Then we were in the lion park – unfortunately I think all the lions were asleep.
A: That's a pity. When we were there, a group of four lions were right by the side of the road. They were beautiful. I also loved the snakes in the reptile house.
B: Yeah. Luckily, they're behind glass!

J = James A = Alice
J: Hi, Alice! Did you have a good time in Paxford last week?
A: Yeah – it was cool, thanks. It's a little town in the countryside but there's a lot to see and do.

J: What did you like best?

A: Well – you know I love art! There's a beautiful art gallery there called The Mann Art Gallery.

J: Yeah, I think I know the name.

A: It was small then but now it's really big. It's got a great café. We had lunch there.

J: Has it got some lovely gardens with interesting statues in them?

A: No, you're thinking about the museum. There aren't any statues or a garden!

J: Are there any famous paintings there?

A: There's a room full of lovely paintings of Paxford by local artists. I really liked that. They're all pictures of the town in the past and also today. Oh yes, and there was a special exhibition of black and white photographs for a competition.

J: What was your favourite painting? I know you usually like pictures of the sea!

A: I do – but my favourite there, was a very large picture of a castle. It was absolutely beautiful. I looked at it for ages.

J: Were any of the pictures for sale?

A: No. But there was a gift shop and I spent some money there on a poster of the castle and some cards. We had to leave at 5.30 because it closed then but I'd like to go back one day.
